Making crumbles and purees and frangipanes that in turn I'll share with friends.. I cannot believe that I haven't blogged in so long Almost 6 months It's a sign of how busy we have been, and catching up with the backlogged 'would like to do' list has been put on the backburner for too long! I started off this admin Monday with a determination to properly file/organise some of my images from over the years- and it's been a bit like opening the family photograph album! I've ended up reminiscing and remembering the many wonderful times we have spent cooking and prepping for the most fabulous couples imagineable.. If you have a nut allergy, but can tolerate coconut - as many nut intolerants can - then you can also enjoy this! 200g dark chocolate 250ml coconut milk (use as much of the thick coconut milk as you can - as opposed to the runny liquid) 60g soya margarine (buy the best quality) 2tbsp maple syrup A couple of drops of orange essence Slowly melt the dark chocolate in the coconut milk. Os X Still Looking For Root Device

Sometimes friends come knocking - with offers of fruitfall that we gladly accept.. And keep stirring Once the chocolate is fully melted, whisk in the margarine, honey and orange essence.. We'll eat round a big table - imagining that this was a wedding feast How will we serve these dishes? What should we serve them with. cea114251b Activation Code For Animated Sms
